

How to analyse files with AeroStar

AeroStar is a web-based application that you load in your browser. It is available as a subscription service, and it is one part of a suite of applications that provide additional information over and above what you can get from most regular bike computers.

Currently the AeroStar CdA application only supports data files in json format that have been exported from a Notio device. Plans are in place to support additional generic file types.

